

112050 SBN
2001-01-23

17

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a method for obtaining a catalytically active mixture based on stable nitroxyl radicals. The invention is characterized in that the stable nitroxyl radicals are hydrophobic and are selectively separated from a reaction mixture by means of hydrophobic interactions.